HARRISBURG, Jan. 3.—With a challenge to smash the domination of special interests and concentrated wealth, Gov. Gifford Pinchot today laid before Pennsylvania's Assembly a comprehensive program permitting a budget reduction of $34,000,000 and a relief fund of not less than $20,000,000 without new taxes.

Ignoring the elementary proposals to effect savings merely by slashing appropriations and leaving departments to carry on as best they can, the Governor, instead, went deeper into government operation and proposed sweeping revisions which he said would answer better the purposes of economy.

In his message the rank and file of state employees found Governor Pinchot a champion of their cause to maintain existing salary schedules. He flatly opposed pay cuts, branding such proposals unfair and unnecessary.

As one of his chief proposals to relieve from "intolerable taxation those least able to bear it," he proposed that the state take over the roads in second class townships. The suggestion that the Department of Revenue be abolished he stigmatized as a move to throw "more millions to the politicians."

He condemned the emergency

PA NEWS OBSERVES

BUY AMERICAN!

Pa News is informed by a local man that he has exceeded all known speed records in getting downtown to work. He left his home on Crawford avenue at 6:30 by his clock. When he reached East Washington street, a clock said it was 6:30, and later when he arrived at his place of employment it was 6:30, apparently having made the trip in "nothing flat." The record of course was due to the fact that the various clocks were not regulated to the same time.

Local streams reached a new high stage for the winter on Sunday, due to the rains of the few preceding days. The Shenango river was at a stage of eight and a half feet, unusual for this time of the year. The cold snap caused them to drop rapidly however.

Pa News notices a great number of automobiles bearing the letter "M" in their combination. In one short block this morning, four were seen, and curiously enough, there were two sets of combinations in which the numbers ran concurrently. There was only a difference of one in the last figure.

The New Year was ushered in by real snappy weather. The temperature got down close to the zero mark, but had perked up considerably by this morning.

Cruising around at an early hour Sunday morning, one of Pa News's boys observed that a great number of New Castle were holding watch

Kidnaped And Slain

MRS. RUTH STEESE

Working with only flimsy clues, Cleveland police pushed an extensive investigation into the murder of Mrs. Ruth Steese, 26-year-old college graduate and bookkeeper for the Cleveland Society for the Blind. Robbery is believed to have been the motive for what police regard as one of the most fiendish slayings in the history of Cuyahoga county. Kidnaped on a main thoroughfare after visiting a bank, Mrs. Steese's body was found an hour later in a borrowed automobile on an isolated road in Beechwood Village, a suburb. She had been strangled and shot to death.

Fire Truck Is Damaged Sunday

Captain Gorley Swerves Machine Into Building To Avoid Collision

WAS ANSWERING
A FALSE ALARM

Answering a false alarm called in from the vicinity of Fifth and Clayton streets, Sunday morning at 10:05 proved costly to the city. The seventh ward fire truck was seriously damaged and the firemen had a miraculous escape from serious injury when Capt. Frank P. Gorley had to swerve his machine to avoid plunging into the car of C. L. Whitaker of Louisville, O., at the corner of Madison avenue and North Liberty street.

As it was the fire truck brushed the Whitaker car, and plunged over the curb at the corner, crashing into the Crescent Theater. The truck was so badly damaged that it was impossible to continue on its way, Capt. Gorley calling for aid. No. 5 and B. truck answered the alarm, but were unable to find any blaze.

Two other false alarms were turned in over the holidays. The New Year was ushered in by some practical joker who sounded Box 21 at the corner of North Mercer and Lincoln avenue at 12:05 Sunday morning.

At 4:15 this morning, an alarm was sounded from Box 56, at the corner of Long and Pollock avenues, which called out two fire companies. Arriving on the scene, the firemen found the alarm had been false.

Legislature May Quit April 13

Resolution To Fix Early Date
For Adjournment Of Present Session

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 3.—Though the huge mass of legislation destined to appear before the legislature early adjournment, predictions of a "brief and business-like" session of the legislature appeared again today.

The hope found expression in the records of the Republican House caucus when Rep. Joseph G. Steedle, Allegheny, presented a resolution urging that the Assembly adjourn sine die on April 13. The measure was adopted and will be presented later to the House for action.

Dr. Steedle was made chairman of the slate committee which will handle house patronage.

(International News Service)
CLEVELAND, Jan. 3.—A 28 year old man who had in his possession a pair of blood-stained gloves has been arrested as a suspect in the slaying of Mrs. Ruth Steese, attractive welfare worker, it was revealed today.

The man, who admitted he had served a term in a Colorado prison for robbery and that he was wanted in other cities for passing fraudulent checks, partially resembled the description of a man believed to have been the murderer of the bookkeeper for the society for blind, police said.

Fire Damages East Side Home

Loss Of $1500 Sustained In Fire Early New Year's Morning

Fire which started from an overheated furnace in the home of Joe Palus, 1214 Randolph street at 1:05 Sunday morning, caused a loss of $1,500 on the home and contents. The loss is covered by insurance.

Three companies, Nos. 4, 5 and B truck from Central answered the alarm, and succeeded in getting the fire under control but not before serious damage had been done to the home.

The blaze worked its way into the rooms above the heater and between the walls of the house, having a fairly good start by the time firemen arrived on the scene.

Motorists Must Pay Their Fines

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 3.—A new and "fixless" tag system was to go into effect in Pittsburgh today.

The new tickets, in triplicate form, are designed to eliminate any possibility of freeing motorists from penalties for violating the city traffic ordinance.

WILL ROGERS says:

(Special To The News)
BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Jan. 3.—Same faces, same men issued New Year "outlook" predictions. It looks like they just stay in business all year to get to tell "what the new year has in store for us." Every one has enough to live on no matter what happens.

But I have never seen a paper print what a poor man thought of the "coming year." Suppose at a hanging in a jail, the reporters got statements from the warden, and all the spectators, but no one asked the convicted man, "what he thought the future had in store for him?"

So, tomorrow after the others have all been forgotten as usual, I have one from just such a man to tell you.

Yours,

Grover Talbot Is New Speaker Of House Today

Delaware County Representative Serving 5th Term,
Becomes House Speaker

ALIGNED WITH
ORGANIZATION

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 3.—Rep. Grover C. Talbot, who today assumed the house speakership of Pennsylvania's 130th General Assembly, was first elected to the legislature in 1924.

He was born in East Coventry township, Chester county, April 23, 1885, and was educated in the public schools of that locality. He served for four years on the council of Norwood borough where he makes his home. He was president of that body for two years, and was Burgess of Norwood for four years.

Fifth Term
Today he is serving his fifth successive term in the assembly as the representative of the second district of Delaware county, having shown large majorities in every election.

Talbot is staunchly aligned with the state Republican organization. He forged rapidly to the front during the last two special sessions as the co-leader of a group demanding drastic governmental economies and as the author of the two relief bills which bear his name. The first provided $10,000,000 for relief of the state's unemployed and the second furnished $12,000,000 for the same purpose.

He places second to none in the legislature as a foe of Gov. Gifford Pinchot and a critic of the executive's policies.

Police Hunting New York Slayer

Slayer Of Night Club Owner

For Ruthless Killing

UNDERWORLD MAY
WREAK VENGEANCE

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—With four men, their identities closely guarded, and a pretty hat check girl preparing today to give the district attorney their versions of the slaying of Larry Fay, racketeer, night club operator and Broadway playboy, police redoubled efforts to apprehend Edward Maloney, charged with the killing.

For there was definite belief among detectives that unless Maloney is found soon the arm of underworld vengeance will reach him first.

The former state trooper and prohibition agent, who police are convinced shot Fay in his garish uptown night club in an argument over $67 Maloney claimed the racketeer owned him, was believed to be "on the spot" for Fay's underworld pals.

Although Fay died with only 30 cents in his pocket, his once powerful half-world position gone and the rackets which netted him close to $20,000,000 disrupted, he had friends and police believed they would wield ruthless vengeance against Fay's slayer.

Maloney, who acted as doorman and "bouncer" at Fay's club, disappeared immediately after the killing Sunday night. Intense search of his usual haunts has failed to reveal a clue to his whereabouts.

Announce Plans For Reception For Boak

Plans for a public reception and testimonial to J. Audley Boak of Princeton, recently elected State Master of the Pennsylvania Grange, were announced today by W. Sharp Fullerton, master of Pomona Grange. Additional details of the reception will be announced later.

The affair will be held in the Westfield Grange Hall, near Mt. Jackson on Wednesday night, January 11, beginning at eight o'clock. From eight until nine o'clock a reception will be held. From nine until ten there will be a program of music and entertainment which will include some orchestral selections by the Mt. Jackson High School orchestra and other diversions. Five minute addresses by New Castle men and Mr. Boak will close the program with his address. Following that there will be a buffet lunch served.

Open To Country
While the affair is sponsored by Pomona Grange, it is open to the public and many citizens of New Castle have expressed an intention of being present inasmuch as the election of Mr. Boak reflects credit upon the entire county. The officials of Pomona Grange feel that this will be an opportunity for city and country men and women to get together and for that reason have issued a cordial invitation to New Castle and Ellwood citizens to join with the granges in honoring Mr. Boak.

The four New Castle men who will speak for five minutes each are Fred L. Rentz, Senator George T. Weingartner, Judge James A. Chambers and Mayor Charles B. Mayne. There will be no charge for the testimonial as it is just an outward expression of the appreciation the granges feel in seeing one of their own members elected to the important post of State Grange Master.

It is expected that Westfield Grange Hall will be crowded for the event.

Hundred Twenty Acres Donated To New Castle For City Park Purposes

Council has accepted on behalf of the city of New Castle, from Mrs. Caroline Wallace and her sister, Mrs. Lillian Westlake, a gift for park purposes of 120 acres of land situated between Gaston and Cascade Parks.

The gift was made Monday through Director of Parks Gen. Gen. when council convened formally for the first time in 1933. Solicitor White has been instructed to draft an ordinance, which will be adopted, making the land acceptance official.

Gen. Gen. letter, presented to council Monday, reads:
"About a year ago Mrs. Caroline Wallace advised me that she and her sister, Mrs. Lillian Westlake, the family of her brother, the late S. W. Cunningham of Pittsburgh, desired to give 120 acres which lies between Gaston Park and Cascade Park to the city of New Castle for the purpose of extending the park system of the city on the south side."

"It was agreed among these heirs of Robert W. Cunningham, the father of Mrs. Wallace, to turn the land over immediately, but the interests of S. W. Cunningham could not be conveyed immediately because of a will."

HARRISBURG, Jan. 3.—Gavels fell promptly at noon today and the 133rd session of Pennsylvania's General Assembly was under way. Convened separately, house and senate were prepared for several hours of time-consuming procedure fixed by constitution and tradition.

Lieut. Gov. E. C. Shannon presided in the senate, and Eugene F. White, Delaware county, chief of the house, ascended the rostrum of that branch.

Legislators were practically obscured in both auditoriums by countless numbers of floral gifts which bedecked desks and jammed aisles. Close to a hundred new members looked on with awed interest, veteran legislators dispassionately photographed lights boomed.

Two hundred and six house members and 100 senators were present.

Japanese Launch Another Assault On Shanhaikwan

Walled City Of Shanhaikwan Withstands Withering Attack By Japs

MANY CHINESE ARE REPORTED KILLED

Both Sides Are Maintaining Strong Defense Lines,
Is Report

By JOHN GOETTE
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

PEIPING, Jan. 3.—Japanese troops launched another assault on the walled city of Shanhaikwan today. This information was telegraphed to International News Service by General Hoshi-Kuo, Chinese commander at Shanhaikwan.

Latest advices from the battle area said hundreds of civilians and Chinese troops had been killed.

Chinese Outnumbered
It was reported that 5,000 Japanese troops participated, outnumbering the Chinese garrison.

The telegram stated the assault began late this morning and lasted one hour.

The Japanese attack, climaxing hostilities around Shanhaikwan begun on New Year's day, was a combined land, air and naval effort to dislodge the Chinese defenders of the city.

News of the assault quashed Japanese reports the Japanese had gained complete control of the area in yesterday's fighting.

General Hoshi-Kuo informed International News Service that fire from the guns of Japanese destroyers had destroyed part of the great wall of China, which meets the Gulf of Chihli at Shanhaikwan.

Warships Arrive
Japanese infantry, he declared, were attempting to scale the breaches with ladders, but were being held back by withering fire from Chinese machine guns.

Both sides were maintaining defense lines, he said, adding that two Japanese warships had entered the harbor, bringing the Japanese fleet there to nine vessels, all of which joined in the shelling, aided by seven Japanese bombing planes which had just arrived.

Move To Prevent House Lobbying At Harrisburg

All Persons Not Entitled To Privileges Of Floor Of House To Be Barred

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Jan. 3.—An effort was under way today to prevent lobbying on the floor of lower branch of the State Legislature.

The Republican caucus adopted a resolution calling upon the sergeant-at-arms to see that persons not entitled to the privileges of the floor of the House are barred during the sessions. The resolution pointed out that during the last session visitors occupied the seats of absentee members and that in other ways they caused confusion which resulted in the delay of important legislative activities.

SET TIME TO ARGUE BEER BILL

Wets And Drys Will Be Heard

Constitutionality Of 3.2 Beer Bill Is Seriously Questioned By Senate

WILL ARGUE POINT ON NEXT SATURDAY

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—The stage was set today for a clash Saturday between the wets and drys over the constitutionality of the House bill for beer of 3.2 per cent alcoholic content by weight.

The debate was scheduled to occur before a subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary committee, with the wets having three hours in which to present their arguments and the drys an equal time in which to offer testimony.

Compromise Seen

In deciding to hold a six-hour open hearing on the constitutional issue involved, the Judiciary committee effected a compromise between the demands of beer proponents and the prohibition groups. Sponsors of the House beer bill were opposed to any hearings, fearing delay in reporting the bill would prevent a vote at the short session. The national prohibition board of strategy extensive evidence been taken. With a number of senators seriously in doubt regarding the right of congress to authorize 3.2 beer, both wets and drys sensed the importance of the legal duel scheduled for the week-end.

Opposing Beliefs

Opposing beliefs were summarized by two senators.

"I am convinced that 3.2 per cent beer is unconstitutional so long as the Eighteenth Amendment is part of the nation's organic law," said Senator Sheppard (D) of Texas, co-author of the amendment.

"I have no doubt that congress is within its constitutional rights in authorizing beer of light alcoholic content," stated Senator Norris (R) of Nebraska, chairman of the Senate Judiciary committee.

NO NEW TAXES SAYS PINCHOT, URGES ECONOMY

sales tax, which expires March 1, and went squarely on record against its renewal. "It is unnecessary," The Executive raised the subject of mercantile appraisers momentarily and then dismissed it with the unequivocal charge that the system was purely selfish politics and without excuse for existence.

Long a foe of the big public service corporations, he took a stand today for preservation of the railroads from the competition of giant freighters on the highways.

Measures Advocated

He strongly advocated these measures: A thorough overhauling of the poor board system, taxes on foreign corporations in the same ratio as domestic companies; creation of a state tax equalization board to abolish discrimination in property assessments; placing local tax collecting officers on a salary basis where remuneration by fees is excessive; home rule in fixing public office salaries, and a two-year suspension of the minimum pay law for teachers.

Under his plan, the rate of pay would be determined between teacher and school board, provided the reduction shall not exceed 10 per cent.

The subjects of prohibition and blue law legislation were ignored. Election law legislation was continued to the recommendation that the defeated candidate automatically take office if fraud is proved against the successful candidate.

The Governor sharply criticized "machine politics" which he charged was multiplying the taxpayers of tens of millions of dollars, citing Philadelphia and Pittsburgh as "glaring examples."

With reference to the legislative branch of government, he expressed a friendly, but firm reminder that the practice of overloading its own payrolls was without justification.

Utilities and the public service commission came in for cursory mention, but the Governor promised he would be heard from later on this.

He announced his faith in the present public service commission as composed of "a majority of men" wholly free from public utility domination and sincerely and intelligently devoted to the public interest. He declared his charges of perjury in the past were substantiated.

Finally, the Governor directed a parting shot at the State Republican organization leaders: "If they once more betray the welfare of the many for the special interests of the few, voters will rightly demand a complete reorganization of the Republican party in this state."

Governor Pinchot outlined concisely his six-point program to "relieve local taxpayers to the extent of $35,000,000 in two years, find $20,000,000 for unemployment relief, avoid any new taxation, and carry on the operations of government with great economy."

His Program:

"1. That the state take over all the remaining 53,000 miles of second class township roads for maintenance and construction, at a saving to those who pay local road taxes of at least $18,000,000 during the two years of the budget period. This will not merely maintain the roads better and ultimately improve them, but what is even more important, it will relieve the hardest hit taxpayers in Pennsylvania. I recommend it especially on that account."

"2. That the Department of Revenue be authorized to assess and collect the personal property tax, the state to retain one-half of any increase over the last five-year average return, the counties to get the other half. It is estimated that this will provide $13,000,000 additional revenue for state purposes, and $13,000,000 additional revenue to counties which can be applied to the relief of local real property taxpayers during the two years."

"3. That the Department of Revenue be authorized to appraise and collect mercantile taxes through its own employees. Additional revenue and reduced costs are estimated at $2,300,000 for two years."

"4. That the Department of Revenue be authorized to appraise and collect mercantile taxes through its own employees. Additional revenue and reduced costs are estimated at $1,700,000 for two years."

"5. That a more accurate method be provided of allocating the proportion of capital stock taxable in Pennsylvania of foreign corporations doing business here. Additional revenue is estimated at $3,000,000 for two years."

"6. That the duties of the 425 poor boards of the state be transferred to county poor boards, where such do not now exist, at a probable saving of not less than $4,000,000 to local taxpayers in two years."

"The total relief to local taxpayers, as estimated under this plan, for the next two years, repeat, amount to $35,000,000. The total new revenue to the state through increased efficiency in collecting existing taxes is estimated at $20,000,000, or enough to pay the state's share of the cost of unemployment relief. No new taxes will be required, those who need help most will get the most help, and at the same time the new budget will call for $34,000,000 less than the last one."

Deaths of the Day

Howard B. McClimans.

Howard Brinton McClimans, aged 45, of the Lowellville-New Castle road, Mahoning township, well known Pennsylvania Railroad engineer, died suddenly about five o'clock Saturday evening at his home, while doing some work there. He had been in his usual health and his death came as a shock to his family. He had only returned home from his work a short time prior to his death.

night parties, or something. At any rate, there were lights burning in a great many homes around two a. m.

Mrs. W. H. Shipley, 312 Highland avenue, was all thrilled this morning when she looked from her window and saw perched on the bird bath in her yard, a big robin. He was drinking at the bath and then hopped around and picked up some crumbs the Shipleys had put out for the sparrows.

Counterfeit money made its appearance in the Postoffice today, two spurious bills being given in exchange either for stamps or money orders. One of the bills is a Federal Reserve note for $5 and the other a Federal Reserve note for $10.

The counterfeiters are fairly clever, although when placed along side of genuine currency the counterfeit is noticeable. The quality of paper and ink and the engravings of Lincoln and Hamilton show the counterfeit at once and further investigation shows other discrepancies. However the counterfeiters are close enough that they could easily be accepted during a rush.

Post Master L. S. McNab is getting in touch immediately with the Postal authorities in Washington to notify them of the spurious money passed here and the department will probably begin an investigation.

GEOLOGICAL MYSTERY

ATLANTIC CITY is sinking into the Atlantic Ocean at the rate of six and one-half inches a century. Boston is sinking at the faster rate of eleven and one-half inches. Resting on solid Rock, New York City is sinking at the rate of five inches. Coney Island's sinking feeling is more pronounced than that of all the rest, while Philadelphia's is least, but the latter city is far inland.

Erosive action of the waves upon the coast may account for these sinking shores, but how is one to reconcile that with the fact that Portland, Me., is lifting itself out of the ocean at the rate of seven inches every hundred years, and Charleston, S. C., at the rate of 15 inches? And Boston has had her rising spells as well as her sinking spells.

Here is one of the unsolved geological mysteries. Of course the geologists have their theories, but they do not agree and conclusive proof is lacking.

Earthquakes on the ocean floor or in distant countries may be the explanation for these shiftings. Or there may be things going on under the earth's crust of which the geologists know nothing.

For centuries to come there is nothing to worry about, unless the scientists wish to worry about their inability to solve the mystery of this inconstant and inconsistent coast line.

A BUDGET THAT WON'T BE BALANCED

Since Governor Roosevelt has taken it upon himself to dictate to Congress—indirectly, to be sure, but apparently effectively—the chances for a balanced Budget are small. He draws a distinction between special sales imposts, such as we now have, and a general sales tax on manufactured products. Apparently it is all right to pick out this or that business and levy on it—to discriminate—but all wrong to spread a light tax, which would never be felt by the consumer, over the general manufactured output.

His thought runs counter to that of Democratic leaders in Washington.

This is the important news of the week in Congressional circles. That Democratic leadership, which had become convinced that the only way to square the Government's expenditures with its income was a resort to a manufacturers' sales tax, will bow to the opinions of the incoming President, can not be doubted. Indeed, it has already made the gesture of submission. That the outcome will be a failure to balance the Budget—or anything approaching it—is altogether probable. The Ways and Means Committee will start a survey of the situation on Wednesday, but the outlook is dubious.

The sharp tongue of Senator Robinson of Arkansas complains that "on vital domestic questions—the balancing of the Budget, means of additional revenue, genuine governmental economy and farm relief—the Administration is as barren of ideas as it has been during the last four years."

Resort to partisan politics thus early after the campaign gets nowhere. Farm relief is a matter that is now in the hands of Congressional committees, and has nothing to do with the squaring of the Budget. As for the Budget, Mr. Hoover has made recommendations which, if accepted, would go a long way toward restoring the Government to its firm financial foundation. He has demanded economy. He has advised a large saving in the administration of the Veterans' affairs. He has proposed a reorganization of the departments, which it is the intention of Congress to ignore. He has suggested that the one cent tax on gasoline be extended another year. And he has offered a tax of 2.25 per cent on manufacturers' sales. The revenue to be derived would, in the opinion of the Secretary of the Treasury, give us a surplus at the end of the fiscal year of 1934.

This is the plan of President Hoover. Most of it will be scrapped. What has Democratic leadership to offer in its place? To date it has rejected reduction of compensation payments to veterans not really entitled to them; has rejected salvage from the wages of government employees; has rejected—or proposes to reject—departmental reorganization, preferring to leave that subject for Roosevelt to deal with. The House has, to be sure, done something in the line of economy. It has slashed—following pretty closely Hoover's totals—appropriation bills for three departments below the prevailing appropriations. It has passed a bill with a tax on beer. That is all that has been accomplished by Democratic leadership.

What the beer tax will produce—should it manage to get through the Senate, be approved by the President—which is deemed doubtful—and survive the examination of the Supreme Court, is pure guess work. But the Budget can not be balanced by a beer tax and whatever economies may be enforced. The Democratic leaders of the House, including Speaker Garner and Representative Collier, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, are convinced that something more is needed. That something more, they had agreed, was the manufacturers' sales tax. But President-elect Roosevelt has risen in opposition, and that settles it for the present. He has left his party's leaders out at sea in a leaky boat. In some manner he expects them to flounder ashore says the Philadelphia Inquirer.

All that the country can do is to hope that they will. But confidence is not great. Apparently Mr. Roosevelt will take office with a serious financial problem on his hands, a problem which might be avoided.

What this country needs just now is fewer view-with-alarmers and more point-with-priders.

But when you hear an American suggest the idea of a dictatorship, he means with himself as it.

You don't really believe in a law if your neighbor can break it without losing your respect and friendship.

Of course the pioneers deserve credit for overcoming such odds, but no politicians were trying to save them.

SLOWING UP

The world is going slower
As it wanders in its track,
And here's an item proving it,
"Croquet is coming back."

There is too much hanging of
It nearly always seems unnecessary or inadequate.

Cop: "Madam, did you know you were doing fifty miles an hour, which is against the law?" Sweet little thing: "Is that so, isn't that splendid. I just took my first lesson yesterday?"

Americanism: Battering the Farm Board whose ignorance cost the people 400 million; still expecting government agencies to work a trick and end hard times.

All of Us

BY MARSHALL MASLIN

THAT FRENCH GIRL
She had an odd little accent and she fascinated us.

None of the other girls talked that way. They talked just as we did. We were all just regular American kids with regular American fathers and mothers. . . . But she was different. She had golden hair and pink cheeks. She used her hands more than we did when she talked. She was different. She had glamor. You see, she was French. She had a French name. Her first name was Jeanne and her last name had a "la" or a "le" in front of it. (I've forgotten just what it was). . . . She'd come to our town to live with her uncle, and she'd come—we knew—from far away. That's what made her fascinating. That and her accent and her obvious "difference."

So we hung around and looked at her and invited her to "parties." I did, too.

As I think back, it seems to me now that she was rather stupid. She never said much. She had no "pep" or "hine." She didn't need either of those possessions.

We didn't ask her to be any different. . . . It was enough for us that she was French and had that accent. . . . I adored her. I'll admit that. I adored her for two or three weeks, at least, and was teased for it, too.

Then we learned that she was going to marry a young Swedish farmer in a town some miles away, and was going to be Mrs. Olsen or something like that.

She was older than she looked, by a couple of years, and for her we didn't count at all.

So she married him and went away and we hardly ever saw her again. . . . That French girl.

It didn't break my heart, either. I know that it didn't, although in fiction that sort of thing usually does. We went our way as usual, swimming in the river and hiking in the hills and clam digging at the beach and fishing in the lakes and roller skating down the sidewalks of our town and we peddled our papers as usual.

Somehow the glamor was gone from her. We decided that she couldn't have been really French. She hadn't told us she was going to marry that man. The truth was she hadn't told us anything about herself. She was secretive, and besides she was going to be MARRIED and that put her in another generation entirely. . . . So we forgot her. . . . I insist that we did. . . . I don't remember her at all.

PEOPLE WE CENSURE
You have censured certain persons you know for their stinginess. For what you class as their lack of loyalty, because they have not contributed liberally toward charity funds and other fund-raising enterprises.

You think these folks well-to-do because they own much property so far you and the outside world can see.

You do not know how much they owe on their holdings.

You do not know how much interest they have to pay to keep going.

If they should dispose of their property now they would not get enough to pay off the mortgages.

Therefore they may be worse off than you are, believe it or not.

These same persons may be contributing far more of their income, proportionately, than you are.

In all communities there are well-to-do persons who do not do their share toward associated charities and allied interests.

There is nothing to be said in favor of these people.

They deserve all the condemnation they get.

Not all those who seem "stingy" to you are in that class, they just haven't got the money, that's all.

Now, we're certain of the children, they've been ours in fact and name.

We have had them always with us since the very day they came; And no banker ever calls us on the telephone to say

That the price is down on Janets and he's taken ours away.

Here we are still bound together, all for one and one for all;

For we'll live our lives united, whether markets rise or fall.

Though we have a need for money as the days go speeding by,

There is many a happy minute which the dollars can't supply.

We can be a little braver in the face of toil and care.

We can stand a little closer when their trouble we must bear.

We can plan and scheme together and may find contentment, too.

In the countless, extra duties which we're now required to do.

PEACEFUL VALLEY
I strode down the valley at early dawn.

At that quiet hour, when stars are gone;

When the fog drifts in from the placid sea

As though it had waited to welcome me.

While the lazy breakers seem half asleep—

Rolling so slowly in, out of the deep

As though reluctant to meet the land,

And stretch their length on the clean-washed sand.

I strode again, when the sun was low.

Through the summer dusk: and my pace was slow;

For the brown fields danced in the sun-warmed air,

Though the evening shadows had gathered there.

But a breeze blew in suddenly—straight from the sea;

cause it heard the ice cream (scream).

SOUTHERN CHIVALRY IN THE MANNER OF LEE

Great general was Robert E. Lee, greater gentleman. Invading Hagerstown, Maryland, with his staff flanking him, a parade of girls met him with banners and burst defiantly into the song of "The Star Spangled Banner."

Lee pulled in his horse, Traveler, and waited patiently until the singing ceased. He relaxed the reins, doffed his hat gallantly and, with

Hoover-Roosevelt Incident Causes Sharp Controversy

Question Of Co-operation In Dealing With European Debts Raises Various Issues In Connection With Change Of Administration

Public opinion is hopelessly divided on the question of co-operation between President Hoover and President-elect Roosevelt in dealing with the European debts. Need of prompt action is widely upheld. The fact that one is officially in control for a limited period, while the other has no authority until March 4 is emphasized. The desire of Mr. Roosevelt to be free from commitments under a Hoover plan impresses many persons, while others feel a more cooperative attitude on the part of the President-elect would have helped toward a solution of many problems to be faced by the country during the period before the change of Administration.

"Mr. Hoover's inflexibility and Mr. Roosevelt's skittishness," says the BIRMINGHAM AGE-HERALD (Dem.), "have contrived to halt an enterprise in international understanding which would have served the best interests of mankind." That paper emphasizes the "loss of valuable time," and credits Mr. Hoover with "genuinely constructive service."

THE ROCHESTER TIMES-UNION (Ind.) asserts that the President's "initiative will be applauded by every friend of international understanding, and by all those who comprehend how vitally the question of the war debts is tied up with possibilities of world recovery."

THE NEWARK EVENING NEWS (Ind.) holds that "Mr. Roosevelt failed by taking the cautious and narrowly legalistic attitude" and that "even his belated correspondence with the White House is only self-justification for an uninspiring deed."

Pointing to the earlier "ultra-nationalism" of President Hoover, the BALTIMORE SUN (Ind. Dem.) says that "he has been trying in these last days of his Administration to move in the opposite direction," and concludes: "It seems that Mr. Roosevelt would have been wise to pay more attention to the possible reality of Mr. Hoover's death-bed repentance and less to possible plots. We think he would have got farther on his way toward an understanding with Europe, and much farther on his way toward the establishment of a rule of reason in this nation."

"No one can blame Mr. Roosevelt for making wary approach to a great and vital question that is bound to loom large for his Administration," thinks the MINNEAPOLIS JOURNAL (Ind. Rep.), "though good faith and guardianship of public interest are implicit in Mr. Hoover's endeavor to secure continuity of American action." The NEW YORK TIMES (Ind.) feels that "the correspondence as printed does honor to both sides," and, assuming that of a new commission, suggests that the President "see what can be done toward directing the existing agencies of diplomacy."

Services of a "fact-finding agency" are welcomed by the SPRINGFIELD MASS. REPUBLICAN (Ind.), which comments: "President Hoover's efforts to interlock the new Administration with his own in dealing with this group of questions promotes, however, a most excellent end. The President-elect, his party friends and advisers have been impatient and rightly warned that they should be ready in March with a matured program of their own, for which they will be fully responsible. Full responsibility, indeed, will be in accord with sound principles. Foot responsibility goes with authority, as it ought."

Correctness of the Roosevelt attitude is attested by the YOUNGSTOWN VINDICATOR (Ind. Dem.), the CHARLESTON (S. C.) EVENING POST (Dem.), the ASBURY PARK EVENING PRESS (Ind. Dem.), and the SCRANTON TIMES (Dem.), while the SIOUX FALLS DAILY ARGUS-LEADER (Ind. Rep.) concludes: "President Hoover must assume responsibility for whatever he does. If Governor Roosevelt was supposedly in accord, he would have to share the blame or credit for negotiations in which he might not have had an entirely free hand." The OMAHA WORLD-HERALD (Ind. Dem.) offers the judgment: "There is nothing foggy about Governor Roosevelt's mental processes. He sees—and cuts—straight to the heart of a problem. He makes it easy for the rest of us to see. In the best of good faith President Hoover made his proposal. In the best of good faith Governor Roosevelt rejects it, and for reasons impressive not only in themselves, but impressive for the confidence that his manner of handling them inspires in the governor himself."

"Though the European nations interested," asserts the NEW YORK SUN (Ind.), "probably cherish too optimistic expectations of immediate action, possibly they and the United States as well would benefit by a breathing spell, in which the war debts were not resoundingly discussed. Between March 4 and June 15, when the next payments of interest and principal fall due, there is ample time for the United States to act."

Belief that the Hoover invitation should have been accepted is voiced by the COLUMBIA (S. C.) RECORD (Ind. Dem.), the CLEVELAND NEWS (Rep.), the CHICAGO DAILY NEWS (Ind.), the JERSEY CITY JOURNAL (Ind. Rep.), the PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN (Ind. Rep.), the SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE (Ind. Rep.), and the MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL APPEAL (Ind. Dem.). The WASHINGTON EVENING STAR (Ind.) argues that "the incoming Chief Executive would find it immeasurably helpful to have had the closest possible insight into issues certain to plague his Administration. Importance of a thorough inquiry into the possibilities in connection with the debts is maintained by the OAKLAND TRIBUNE (Rep.) and the SALT LAKE DESERTER NEWS (Ind.), while the PROVIDENCE JOURNAL (Ind.) holds that "certainly no one would expect the outgoing Administration to stand idly by and watch a bad situation become conceivably worse for lack of any action whatsoever during the next two months."

"Herbert Hoover," in the opinion of the CINCINNATI TIMES-STAR (Rep.) "has initiative and the sort of courage that is needed; he knows the world and its problems better than any other American, and he has insured himself to handling matters in which the handler may expect bruises, frustrations, half-failures. Against a static, suspicious and mentally confused political background, with the horsemen of decay riding on Capitol Hill and at Albany, Hoover's figure looms as it did in another world crisis."

Peiping, Jan. 3. (5.25 p. m.)—With their city in flames Chinese troops remained in possession of Shanhaikwan tonight after successfully repelling a series of intensive Japanese attacks by land, sea and air which claimed hundreds of civilian and military lives.

Telegraphing at 5:20 p. m. from his field headquarters in a tiny village two miles from the city, General Ho Chi-Kuo, Chinese commander, declared that the walled section of Shanhaikwan was in flames at dusk, but that the Chinese defenders were holding out bravely against strong odds.

Shanghai, Jan. 3.—Renewal of Sino-Japanese hostilities at Shanhaikwan today threw this city into a fever of apprehension.

Despite assurance of General Wen Hun-Gen, public safety commissioner, that there was no cause for alarm, Chinese residents of the Chapel district, scene of bitter fighting last winter between Chinese and Japanese troops, began an exodus into the foreign settlement.

General Wen declared the panic was without justification and had been caused by circulation of wild rumors.

When reports stating Shanhaikwan had been captured by the Japanese reached here, the excitement increased greatly among the Chinese, intensifying the atmosphere of business uncertainty.

Mrs. Wallace has turned over the deed to me whereby this 120 acres is given absolutely to the city and I recommend to the county that the gift of this land be accepted and that the city solicitor be instructed to draw an ordinance accepting the same as a city park and naming it the Robert W. Cunningham Park.

"I would recommend also that a request be made to the county commissioners to exonerate the county tax that is assessed against the property for 1932, and although Mrs. Wallace has not asked it, but I feel that it is only proper that the road and school taxes on this property for 1932, which were paid by Mrs. Wallace, be returned to her, and I recommend that a warrant be drawn to Mrs. Wallace for that amount, namely $465."

He will go to the Pittsburgh Presbytery and his activities will be missed in the Shenango presbytery, of which he is now a member, for in addition to having served the presbytery as moderator, he is chairman of Christian Education department and representative to the general council of the Synod of Pennsylvania. He has been president of the Lawrence County Christian Endeavor Society and is most popular with the young folks of the community.

Mr. Haverfield has taught Bible in the North Beaver Consolidated school for nine terms and is also chairman of religious education of the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association. He has been serving as secretary of the New Castle Ministerial Association and takes interest in every project before the ministers of the community.

Rev. Haverfield has made a large acquaintance in the county, as well as in New Castle, during his nine years stay and it is with regret that this congregation and friends sever this tie of minister and members.

Committee On Anniversary Week Holds First Meeting On Saturday

BIG REUNION OF SCOUTS IS PLANNED

Big scouts, little scouts, old-timers and green tenderfoots will all meet together under one common bond, the Scout Oath and law, during the coming twenty-third anniversary week observances in February. An anniversary week committee, including Messrs. Round, Davis, Rev. Bennett, Rev. Stump, Harry Culliford, Judd, Turner of Ellwood City, Dr. E. C. Lutz and the executive met on Saturday afternoon and went over general plans for the various events to be held.

Lawrence County Council has been organized over ten years. During that time thousands of scouts have been served by this work and local scouts hope to have a big reunion of former scouts and scouters. Records are being gone over to see where some of our former scouts went and what they are doing now. Men now living in the county will be invited to participate in the week's observances. A big "round-up" will be held in both New Castle and Ellwood City; as well as union church services. Service clubs will be asked to give some of their programs to scouting during this week; five troops in this county being sponsored by Rotary and Kiwanis clubs. Awards, diplomas, trophies and special achievements will be presented and recognized at

The Boy Scout leaders feel that the Scout Movement and program is needed now as it never has been needed heretofore since the World War, and in spite of extremely limited financial resources, they are planning to carry on the work in 1933 with the objective of a good-sized gain in membership during the year, and present indications already point to this being realized.

The men behind the work, councilmen, committeemen, scoutmasters, assistants and commissioner staff will meet together for the annual council meeting next Monday evening at First Christian church on the Diamond; the affair to be a supper meeting, with the meal served at 6:30. (However, the ladies say that latecomers will also be served as long as they have made their postcard reservations.) It is expected that an outstanding layman of Western Pennsylvania will also be present to bring Region Three greetings.

Explains Forest Fire Situation

Wardens Keep Eye On Conditions Where Forests Are Located

PROTECTION IS THE AIM OF DEPARTMENT

By J. O. ARTMAN
Forest Inspector

Forest protect on in Beaver, Butler, and Lawrence Counties is a matter of education as it is in all of the counties in the state, but here it is more strongly realized for the reason that the larger part of the region is industrially-minded and their thoughts are far from the forests and their benefits. It is unfortunate to find that after almost forty years of the practice of constructive forestry by the state, that there are still sections where the populace is blissfully ignorant of the existence of a Department of Forests and Waters.

For this reason they are ignorant of the fact that there are over 4,000 forest fire wardens (men chosen because of their evident interest in forestry) scattered throughout the state keeping a watchful eye on what little timber is left. They do not know that trees for reforestation may be obtained at a cost of almost nothing from the commonwealth. They do not realize that there are technically trained men employed by the state who will give them professional advice on matters of planting and harvesting timber crops. They have never heard of a State-maintained Forest Research Institute which is working on or may even have already solved the problems that are facing them. Because they do not know the scope and aims of the forestry movement, they have, either willfully or unwittingly, taken sides with the insects and diseases to wage war on the forests. Their most deadly weapon is fire and you have only to travel over the state to see what a havoc-wrecking machine of destruction it is.

Admitting that there are a few fires caused maliciously, set by some demented person who gets a feindish satisfaction out of "seeing a fire burn", we have to realize that carelessness is the paramount psychological reason for the setting of forest fires. Then comes indifference, self-interest, irresponsibility, ignorance, listlessness—all states of mind which must be corrected before we can ever hope to attain our goal of continued forest production in Pennsylvania.

Duties Outlined

Perhaps a reminder of the duties of the Department of Forests and Waters, as described in the laws of this state, will acquaint people with the tremendous task this organization has undertaken, and make them understand that all they have to do is call upon any forest officer and he will gladly offer his services toward the furtherance of this worth-while cause. The law reads, "It shall be the duty of this department to administer, protect, develop, utilize, and regulate the occupancy and uses of state land, to protect all forest land in the state from fire, insects, fungi, and other pests, to promote and develop the knowledge of forestry throughout the state, to assist land owners in the planting of forest and shade trees, to assist in Arbor Day work, and to promote and advance any other local forestry activity that the department may deem helpful to the public interest." When a problem arises which can be classed under any of these heads get in touch with your District Forester, R. W. Stadden, at Clarion and he will see that you are taken care of.

Protection is the big job of the department. Not because nature is an enemy, but because man, in his ignorance, is against good forestry practice. Lightning is the only natural force that causes forest fires, but for the period 1915 to 1917 inclusive, lightning caused only 32 out of the 4200 fires reported; man and his machines were responsible for the rest. Fire records from other states show this same condition; therefore, it is with man that we must deal in our efforts to prevent forest fires. Everyone should exercise extreme care himself and warn his friends and sometimes even strangers when there is a possibility of averting fire damage.

Farmers should be exceedingly careful when they are burning brush. There are times when the danger of fire spreading from burning brush piles is at a minimum and these are the times when brush should be burned. During the summer, if brush must be burned, it should be done in the evening when the relative humidity is high or just after a rain, but the most appropriate time for burning is in the winter when there is a blanket of snow on the ground. Farmers should remember this so that when they are cutting brush they can pile it in such a way that it will be out of the way till winter, when it can be disposed of in safety.

Railroad companies should keep their rights of way through timbered areas clean and even burn safety strips if necessary. Engines should be equipped with spark arresters and engineers and firemen should be warned against dropping the pan and throwing cinders and burning waste out of the cab. Ties should never be fired and left burning without a guard.

Smother Camp Fires

Sawmill operators should keep a cleared strip around their boilers and screen their smoke stacks so that there will be no danger. Hunters and campers should never leave a fire until it is positively out. When abandoning a camp fire all the inflammable matter should be cleared away from the embers and the red coals should be smothered with water or ground.

If we would only be careful in these respects the toll of valuable timber, game, buildings, and human life exacted every year by the "red plague" would be greatly reduced. A quarter-million dollars of the taxpayers' money, used up in damages and extinction costs, would be saved. Future generations would be assured of an adequate supply of wood and recreational areas unscarred by fire. Finally, lumbering, once one of the major industries of this state, would come back. All this we can have with no other expense than the exercising of a little care.

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

Letters Intended For This Column Must Be Signed With Name And Address Of Writer.

LATE COL. JACKSON MENTIONED

January, 1933.

Editor, The New Castle News, New Castle, Pa.

Dear Sir: Friends and admirers of the late Colonel L. Jackson will be pleased to learn that he has been given prominent mention in a recent book: Sherman, Fighting Prophet, by Lloyd Lewis. Incidentally, this book has been hailed on all sides as the greatest biography of 1932. The author also cites Col. Jackson's book, A Colonel's Diary (Sharon, 1922), in the bibliography.

The author saw fit to bring Oscar L. Jackson into his story of the life of General William Tecumseh Sherman on three occasions. The reader first hears of O. L. Jackson during the federal occupation of Memphis in the summer of 1862. General Sherman was no nursemaid for his men, and Jackson is a witness to it. The late New Castle man shows up again during the Atlanta campaign. He finds General Sherman discussing coming movements with private soldiers and taking them into his confidence as if they were members of the staff. Finally, we read of Col. O. L. Jackson in the midst of the Sherman-Halleck rivalry. Sherman's men—of the Fifteenth Corps—felt Halleck's guards with stones. Logan, Sherman's right hand man, looked on and laughed.

This life story of "Old Uncle Billy," as General Sherman's men fondly called him, calls attention anew to one who was symbolic of his time and generation in America; but who today is largely remembered for his "War is hell" speech delivered under an umbrella on a rainy August evening, 1880, at Columbus, Ohio. It also affords no little pleasure to those who knew that sterling soldier and citizen, the late Colonel Oscar L. Jackson.

Very truly yours,

LEROY K. DONALDSON.

EXAMINE DRIVERS
State Highway patrolmen today held examinations of prospective automobile operators in Sampson street. The tests commenced at 10 a. m. and concluded at three p. m.

Number Of Arrests Fall Off Greatly

Big Drop In Number Of Persons Placed On Police Department Docket

Arrests made by the police of the city, according to the police department docket were much less in 1932 than during the preceding year. In 1932, the arrests numbered exactly 2108. In the preceding year, the arrests numbered 2600. This is a drop of nearly twenty percent. There has been a very consistent decline in the number of arrests made in the past few years. The amount of money collected by the department in fines has also experienced a very pronounced drop as compared with other years. Indications are that the drop in revenue will be even much greater than it was in the number of arrests.

Time For Testing Motor Cars Here

Owners of automobiles in Lawrence county must have their brakes, lights, mirrors and windshield wipers examined during the three months of the year. Beginning in the fourth month State Highway patrolmen will begin a check for defects. The examinations and correction of faults with lights, brakes, mirrors and windshield wipers during the past year went far to eliminate accidents.

PLAN DRASTIC ECONOMY IN STATE GOVERNMENT

Both Parties Of State For Move

Legislature Begins Sessions With Economy As Aim Of All Factions
CAUCUSES HELD MONDAY NIGHT

By ROBERT F. GORMAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent
HARRISBURG, Jan. 3.—Two major political parties today started from one scratch—a pledge for drastic economy in state government.

Entering the most important session of Pennsylvania's General Assembly in a convention, Republicans and Democrats hewed in principle to a single line and in their respective caucuses charted parallel courses. Nominated by the Republicans, with the state organization in control, Rep. Grover C. Talbot, Delaware, was assured of the House speakership. His nominal opponent, slated for little more than 60 of 207 votes in the House, was Rep. Wilson G. Sarig, Berks, the choice of the Democratic caucus.

Tranquility In Ranks
Tranquility in majority ranks was manifest in the fact that Talbot's name was placed in nomination by Rep. Elwood J. Turner, another Delaware member who some months ago was thought ready to contest for the speakership. Other incumbent officers of the House were named by the Republicans for another term. Less than ten of the 139 G. O. P. representatives were missing from the caucus.

The Democrats elected James J. Quinn, Braddock, chairman of the caucus and nominated John L. Post, Washington county and Fred Krauskopf, Philadelphia, for resident clerk and chief clerk, respectively. A move to nominate a floor leader instead of allowing the post to fall automatically to Sarig, was decisively snuffed. Sixty-two representatives attended the Democratic House huddle. Two others were reported ill.

Senator James S. Boyd, Montgomery, was nominated by the Republican caucus for another term as president pro tempore of the upper House. The seven Democratic senators, hopelessly outnumbered, were to caucus today immediately before the session opened.

Gen. Edward Martin, Republican state chairman, called to order both the House and Senate caucuses of the majority party. Warren Van Dyke, Democratic state chairman, opened the minority caucus. In neither case was the extent of proposed economies specified.

Modify Blue Laws
Although the report of the Democratic steering committee was adopted, the caucus was not bound to any specific measures. None was presented. The report, submitted by Rep. Chester A. Rhode, Monroe, was confined to generalizations. It advocated that the party await Gov. Gifford Pinchot's recommendations and use them as a basis for more or less drastic economies. Other recommendations in the report included modification of the "blue laws" and modification of the state prohibition enforcement act in conformity with the action of Congress.

General Martin emphasized that extensive economies must be made and urged the legislators to consider the state as a whole and not as so many districts which they, as individuals, represent. Duplication of work in state departments must be eliminated, he said. He condemned the centralization of government.

Enon Clubs Are Recently Formed

Hi-Y And Tri-Hi-Y Clubs Of Enon High School Gaining Prominence

Although formally established only a short time ago, in early December the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y Clubs of Enon joint high school have built themselves into important young people's organizations of the community.

Already they have been engaged in a number of worthy activities. On Friday evening, December 23 the clubs had a delightful Christmas party for the entire Enon high school. After numerous games had been played Santa Claus appeared at the Christmas tree and presented everyone with a present. A treat was also given by the faculty members. Due to the bad weather carols were not sung as had been planned. On Sunday evening, December 18, the two clubs very ably took charge of the service at the Presbyterian church of Enon Valley. Gladys Sperber, president of the Tri-Hi-Y and Joe Kerestey, president of the Hi-Y were in charge. Speeches were given by members of both organizations.

The clubs were organized early last month. The New Brighton Hi-Y club performed the induction ceremonies for the new members at Enon. The Beaver Tri-Hi-Y club was in charge of the ceremonies for the girls. A. H. Smith, secretary of Beaver Valley Y. M. C. A. accompanied by both groups, was in general charge of both ceremonies. A lunch was served later by the social committees.

"Returns are required of every single person who for the year of 1932 had a gross income of $5000 or more or a net income of $1000 or more, and of every husband and wife living together who had an aggregate gross income of $5000 or more or an aggregate net income of $2500 or more."

"The personal exemptions are $1000 for single persons and $2500 for married persons living together. Lowering of the personal exemption will require many hundreds of thousands of individuals to file returns this year who did not do so in 1932.

"Persons whose net income for the year was derived chiefly from salaries or wages and was not in excess of $5000 should make returns on form 1040-A. Persons whose net income, even though less than $5000, was derived from a business or profession, including farming, or from rentals or sales of property, are required to use form 1040. The use of 1040 is required also in the case of individuals whose net income was in excess of $5000 whether from a salary, business, profession or other source."

"The filing period is from January 1 to midnight of March 15."

To Stop A Cough That Hangs On
Take a teaspoonful of Broncholine Emulsion. Never mind the taste nor the smell—it's not half as bad as you think it is going to be. If your cough hasn't stopped, take another dose in three or four hours. Two doses is usually enough to kill the most stubborn, hang-on cough. A bottle surely does it or you get your money back.

Of course if you want a sweet, sugary sedative Broncholine Emulsion is not the cough medicine for you. Broncholine contains no habit-forming drugs of any kind. But it certainly kills a cough! No doubt about it. Or Eckerd's Drug Store and all other good druggists guarantee to give you money back.

Holiday Lights Removed Today
Electric Company Employees Take Down Decorations On Washington Street

One of the last signs of the Christmas holiday season in the downtown district was removed today, when employees of the Pennsylvania Power Company took down the Christmas trees and lights along Washington street.

The lights were put up during the week preceding Christmas under the auspices of the Better Business Bureau of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce.

A new wrinkle was tried out in the holiday lighting plan this year, trees being placed near the top of the curb light standards, and lights being strung through them.

Heretofore a festoon lighting system was used, and small trees were placed at the curb on the ground all last year.

Geneva College Resumes Thursday
Dr. M. M. Pearce, President, Is Recovering From Recent Operation

(International News Service)
BEAVER FALLS, Jan. 3.—Geneva College is scheduled to resume class work Thursday of this week, following a two weeks' holiday vacation. Her president, Dr. M. M. Pearce, who underwent a major operation in a local hospital some two months since, has sufficiently recovered to make occasional brief visits to his office. He hopes to be able to resume his duties at the opening of the second semester, February 1.

The buildings on the campus were renovated during the vacation and improvements to the extent of $1200 or $1300 made in the heating equipment. For the past two years the majority of these buildings have been heated exclusively from gas in wells sunk on the college campus. Of late however the wells have not been sufficiently adequate to heat all buildings, hence the necessity of connecting certain buildings by insulated pipe to insure sufficient warmth from coal fueled heaters.

Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with granulated sugar syrup, made with 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's so easy! Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and children love its taste.

This simple mixture soothes and heals the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing. Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, the most reliable healing agent for severe coughs. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Former Stars May Upset High Team

Coach Bridenbaugh Will Send Strongest Lineup Against Alumni

Game Starts At 8 o'Clock—Alumni Will Present Fast Team

New Castle High School basketball team will play their final pre-season game tonight at 8 o'clock at George Washington Junior High floor and will have the fast New Castle High Alumni team as their opponents. The Alumni team has been training hard for the past several weeks, and they may upset the Bridenbaugh machine. New Castle has won four straight games.

Fast Alumni Team
The Alumni will more than likely line up with Nickie Uram and Sillman at the guards, Andy Lasky at center, and Bruce Franklin and Johnny Johnson at the forwards, with a possibility that Luke Rowe will be in the starting lineup. This combination has been together as the St. Mary's team, and they will be in the best of condition. Jimmy Shaffer is another youngster who may break into the game at any time.

Bridenbaugh will depend on his regular lineup with Johnny Uram and Teplica at the forwards, Ridley at center and Komic and "Bus" Reiber at the guards. There is a possibility that Coach Bridenbaugh will do a lot of experimenting with his players tonight as he will lose one of his regulars very shortly by graduation and he will try to find a capable substitute.

Play Rochester Next
New Castle High will swing into their Section Three games on Friday night of this week by playing at Rochester. The game tonight will put them in good shape.

The prices that have prevailed for the past two games will remain the same for the Alumni game. Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner is looking for a big crowd at the Alumni battle.

Crowley Will Be Fordham Coach

Former Member Of "Four Horsemen" Will Leave Michigan State

JIMMY PHELAN CHICAGO BOUND

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—You can say, with reasonable degree of assurance, that official announcement will be made some time tomorrow that Jimmy Crowley, one of the original four horsemen at Notre Dame and present head coach of football at Michigan State, has signed with Fordham University for next season. Crowley, it is understood, accepted terms of a final conference with Fordham authorities here last Friday but asked that the official announcement be withheld until he could return to Michigan State and personally apprise his employers there if his decision to bring for the first time the so-called Notre Dame system to big-time football in the metropolitan area.

Phelan At Chicago
The above information is vouchsafed from within the official family at Fordham, Crowley having left town immediately after the final conference. Strangely enough, another character of the little drama, Jimmy Phelan, University of Washington coach, is still in town.

But, as the writer stated in an exclusive story dealing with the entire situation last week, Phelan decided to withdraw from the field for the Fordham job in order to take up an offer from Chicago to replace Amos Alonzo Stagg, placed on the inactive list by the University's age-limit. I happen to know that Phelan saw this story before it was printed; therefore, if I was wrong, so was he.

Schaldach Is Star In East-West Game

Former California University Player Scores Three Touchdowns, West Wins

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 3.—To all parts of the country America's gridiron "greats" were departing today singing the praises of Henry Schaldach, a former University of California halfback who made no All-American team, but out-played a host of All-Americans here yesterday in counting up a 21 to 13 victory for the West in the annual East-West charity game.

Chunky little Schaldach thrilled the 50,000 spectators with his second half drive that swept the East to defeat after the squad beyond the Mississippi had taken a 6 point lead at half-time.

Here's a piece of interesting 1933 sport news: Sammy Slaughter knocked out Henry Firpo in a round at Dayton, O., last night. The victor will be signed today to fight Gorilla Jones at Cleveland.

Hank Schaldach, an unsung hero in national football, made three touchdowns in the East-West game yesterday at San Francisco. The West won, 21 to 13. In addition to scoring the three touchdowns he made the three points following touchdowns.

While the eyes of most of the fans were centered on the West, other eyes were focused on the Miami-Manhattan grid battle at Miami, and Miami won by a touchdown and one point from touchdown, which came in the last quarter.

Although he has taken on age and weight since he appeared here, Rosey Stoy is still a figure in Eastern Pennsylvania rings. Rosey fought Johnny Cravens in an eight round draw at Lancaster. The fighters weighed 134 pounds.

For the third successive year Mark Hecht, New York, won the national indoor tennis championship at New York. He defeated Dick Hebard of White Plains in four sets, 4-6, 6-2, 6-0. He thus equalled Vincent Richards' record of winning three indoor titles in a row.

California Team National Champs, Top Pitt 35 To 0

Southern California Trojans Humble Pitt Panthers In Rose Bowl Game

PANTHERS CRUMBLE IN FOURTH PERIOD

By GEORGE R. DAVIS
International News Service Sports Writer

PASADENA, Cal., Jan. 3.—National champions by public acclaim! Any doubt that the University of Southern California is entitled to rule as football champions of America was erased today from the minds of the most skeptical critic.

When the Trojans walloped Pittsburgh University by the 35 to 0 score in the Rose Bowl New Year's classic they clearly established themselves as the greatest team in America.

Pitt Collapsed
Pittsburgh put up a good fight, but collapsed in the last half. As usual, it was an aerial raid that started the slaughter. Homer Griffith tossed a perfect pass to Ford Palmer for the initial tally.

Palmer made the most spectacular catch of the season as he literally grabbed the ball from the arms of Mike Sebastian to make the touchdown.

The Panthers, outwitted by the Trojan line, fought in vain to stave off the inevitable defeat, but Southern California was relentless in its attack and could not be turned back. Only one time did Pitt actually threaten, and that was in the second quarter after a 28-yard run by Welsbach took the visitors to the 24-yard line.

Reverse Play Hurts
Strangely enough it was the reverse play—which should be familiar to Coach Jack Sutherland's attack—as it is similar to their own—that did more damage in routing the Panthers in the second half than any other single feature.

After scoring in the opening moments the Trojans did not push over another touchdown until the third quarter. This time Griffith went over with a forward pass from the two-yard line.

From then on it was a parade, with three tallies following in rapid order in the fourth period.

Reider, Cuba Play Last Game

Captain Reider And Left Tackle Cuba Play Against Trojans

Captain Paul Reider and Paul Cuba played their last game with Pitt yesterday when the Panthers lost to University of Southern California 35 to 0 at the Rose Bowl, Pasadena. Cuba played a great game at left tackle until near the end of the game when Meredith was given a chance in the game. Reider went in at left halfback during the last period.

Southern California scored seven points in the first period, again in the third and made 21 more points in the final period.

Coopers Five Wins From Christians B
The Coopers recently handed Central Christian B team a setback, 20 to 11. Jones and Melder were outstanding for the winners, while Smith and Cowmeadow featured for the losers. The Coopers also defeated the fast Hamilton A. C. 24-21 in a game played recently on the Armory floor. The lineup:

Coopers: Cen. Christians B. Reider, F. Jones, F. Thomas, Jones, F. Smith, Smith, Craig, G. McLure, Melder, G. Cowmeadow, Mack, G. Body.

Alonzo Stagg Is Fighting Death From Pneumonia

Retired Chicago Coach Has Attack Of Bronchial Pneumonia

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Amos Alonzo Stagg's amazing vitality stood him in good stead today as the grand old man of Chicago football continued to fight off an attack of bronchial pneumonia, with complication of influenza.

The condition of the 71 year old veteran, who retired as coach at the University of Chicago after the close of the 1932 season, was described as "unchanged" this morning at the medical arts sanitarium. Despite a temperature of 102 degrees, he is not considered to be in any immediate danger.

Dr. Max Rohde, star lineman on one of Chicago's teams more than two decades ago, has personal charge of the case.

Franklin May Play Plaingrove Quintet

Franklin Basketball Team Has Scored Wins In All Games

Ben Franklin junior high school basketball team, which remains undefeated so far this season, may play at Plaingrove Wednesday night. Coach William Wallace has called a practice session for tonight.

Those who are to report for the practice session are: Dom De Caprio, Salvatore De Martino, Mike Zuk, Ben Jones, Joe Merando, Harry Tuscano, Harold O'Brien, Ed. Orosky, Mike Dresphing, Victor Nocera and Paul Small.

The Ben Franklins have won from Senior A, Rangers, Harlanburg, Second U. P., Highland U. P., and East Brook. It is probable Ben Franklin and George Washington junior high fives will clash in the near future.

"Kid" Gleason Is Called By Death

Veteran Baseball Manager And Coach Dies During Sleep In Philadelphia

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 3.—Baseball lost one of its most colorful figures today in the death of William (Kid) Gleason, veteran coach of the Philadelphia Athletics and former manager of the Chicago White Sox.

Gleason, who was 67, passed away in his sleep at his home last night after a lingering illness. Suffering from heart trouble, he had been confined to bed for more than two months.

Gleason was manager of the Chicago White Sox from 1918 to the start of the 1924 campaign. The one great tragedy of his career was the shock of learning that the Sox team "sold out" to the gamblers in the 1919 world series with Cincinnati.

RANGERS WIN GAME
Neshannock Rangers handed the Castle Indies a 26 to 9 setback at the Armory floor. Pattison, Clark and Nelson were the stars of the game. The score at the end of the first half was 18 to 4, with the Rangers leading.

A great deal of Northwestern's curtailment of athletics is reported to have been caused by payments having to be met on Dyche stadium.

Titans Swamp Case Five 46-9

Cleveland Team No Match For Westminster On Home Floor

CASE SCORES ONLY THREE FIELD GOALS

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 3.—Playing their third game of the week and their last of the Old Year, the Westminster College basketball players swamped Case School of Applied Science here Saturday night by a 46-9 score.

The Titans took the lead at the start, were leading 22-5 at half time, and continued to pile up points in the second half although second and third-team players were then on the floor.

In the absence of Coach John Lawther, still recovering from a bad cold, the Titan players seemed to try even harder than usual. Wes Bennett, Akron lad, led the scoring with 12 points, but Newton, Douglass, Siljander, and Wilhelm all played good ball.

Of the second-string players in action, Lou Patt, substitute center from Altoona, looked best. Tom Hillard, Kittanning soph, played a good game at guard, substituting for Wilhelm. Peter Leyschock, Farrell grid star, looked good at forward.

Case was held to two field goals in the first half and one in the second. The Titans made 22 field goals.

Three Church Games Tonight

Highland United Presbyterian will play the Mahoning Presbyterian in one B game and First M. E. will tackle Sacred Hearts in another B game. The lone A division game will be played by First Baptist and Tifereth Israel.

Westminster Plays Duquesne Tonight

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 3.—After a lapse of one year Duquesne and Westminster renew basketball relationships tonight in the Pitt Stadium pavilion in Pittsburgh.

Coach "Chick" Davies of the Dukes has what experts term the perfect team this year with enough legs with first teams. Coach John Lawther has green material for the most part.

Despite the fact that the Dukes are overwhelming favorites to win the game, the rivalry between Dukes and Titans and the fact that Westminster has, in the last six years, won more games from the Bluffs outfit than the Dukes have won from the Titans, makes this game a district "natural" which will attract many fans.

John Lawther, Titan mentor, will leave a sick bed to accompany his team to Pittsburgh tonight. The popular Titan mentor saw his team in only one of the three contests played last week. He has been able to drill his men twice since December 12.

The Pitt pavilion has accommodations for 5,000 fans, and Duquesne officials feel that the place will be packed for tonight's contest. Many Westminster students and alumni plan to be present at the contest, which will be the first of the New Year for both teams.

Grid Reunion At Banquet On Next Wednesday

New Castle High Players Of Other Years Will Dine With Red Hurricane

Plans are under way to make the banquet and dance for the "Red Hurricane" New Castle high school football team one of the biggest and best of its kind ever held here. Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner of senior high gets credit for the idea of having as many of the former New Castle stars as possible attend.

The event is next Wednesday evening and will be at the George Washington high school. The banquet will be served in the cafeteria and the dancing will be held in the gym.

Many Old Timers.
Gardner hit upon the idea of having as many as possible of the 1912 team present, and so far the following have bought tickets and will be present: Captain Earl "Miz" Dart, Herbert "Mickie" Kirk, Harold Bae, Dr. Earl Eakin, who is also team physician at New Castle high now; Dr. Ray Lutz and possibly three or four others. This aggregation thrilled the fans 20 years ago (and does that make them feel old).

Then the first year that Coach Bridenbaugh was here was in 1922, and Gardner thought that it would be nice to have as many of the 1922 team as possible attend and sit in a group and the following have signified their intention of coming to

Progress Is Made In Preparing For Regiment's History

John A. Magee, Who Passed Away A Few Days Ago,
Aided Materially

Progress of a pleasing character is reported in the compiling of the history of the famous 100th Pennsylvania (Roundhead) Volunteer Infantry by Miss Guyula McDowell, an instructor in the department of history of Geneva College. She is a daughter of M. K. McDowell one of the members of the famous organization and it is fitting that she be called upon to write the history of the famous and now almost extinct organization.

Much of her data, Miss McDowell secured from Miss Laura Stevenson who had in her possession, many of the things of vital necessity in writing a history.

She was also furnished much material assistance of late by the late John A. Magee of Plaingrove township, whose death occurred on last Friday evening. Mr. Magee in spite of his advanced years, had an unusually clear recollection of the activities of the 100th Regiment of which he was a member, particularly concerning many of its engagements. In the recent months he has been supplying Miss McDowell with articles on such subjects, which will have an important part in her completed history.

Irregular Trend In Stock Market

Market Opens 1933 Higher But Slips Into Irregular Decline

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—The stock market began 1933 today with a higher opening and then slipped into an irregular decline which carried leaders down about a point from Saturday's close.

Pressure on tobacco stocks was the early unsettling influence but declines in the group were small.

Sticks like Crucible Steel and Texas Corp., marked up for year-end purposes, suffered their customary sinking spell, Crucible losing more than 4 points of Saturday's 9-point gain.

A decline in N. Y. Central sent rail stocks down from fractions to a point. Leaders like U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Allied Chemical and Case Threshing incurred declines running to a point and more.

Stocks were at their worst toward the end of the first hour when rallying tendencies appeared following better action of the tobaccos.

Bonds continued to give a good performance with the Germans exceeding their 1932 highs. Commodities were mixed. Wheat tending higher and Cotton slipping 1 to 6 points.

Trading in stocks was quiet with the speculative community marking time pending developments.

Twenty-Nine Lodged In Jail, Several Injured As Fans Try To Rush Gate

(International News Service) PASADENA, Cal., Jan. 3.—Twenty-nine persons were lodged in jail and several persons including two policemen were injured in a riot between football fans and police at the Pasadena Bowl between the Pasadena and Southern California football game yesterday.

Tear gas was used to quell the spectacular disturbance in which three complete sections of a sturdy wire fence were uprooted in the rioters' effort to get inside to see the last half.

Patrolmen Roy Ewing and Roy Worell were knocked down and the rioters tore night sticks and clothing from other officers before tear gas bombs were hurled.

There was not room inside the stadium for the disappointed rioters. The 84,000 persons who held seats filled the bowl to capacity.

Tubers Prepare For Invasion Of Beaver Falls Hi

Important Battle To Take Place At Lincoln Gym Friday Night

WILL BE FIRST SECTION GAME

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 3.—An important basketball game will take place at the Lincoln gymnasium on Friday evening when Coach "Ganzy" Benedict's undefeated Ellwood High passers will meet the strong Beaver Falls High quint in their first section game of the season.

The Tubers realize the importance of the approaching contest and have been keeping in trim during the holidays. They held a long and serious workout yesterday afternoon at the high school under the supervision of Coach Benedict who returned from his home in the morning.

The session proved to be an encouraging one in which the whole squad showed fine form and pep. The first string players went through all of their plays against the second and third stringers in a fast scrimmage. An imposing score was run up against the latter.

A capacity crowd in Lincoln High's spacious gymnasium has featured this annual colorful tilt between the schools. Friday is expected to be no exception. Coach Beckathorne is bringing down a quint that is worthy to represent Beaver Falls High.

To date the Tigers have lost only one game out of five, and that was to the fast Alliquippa passers. Several veterans are on the squad.

Coach Benedict will conduct long workout sessions every day in the week in order to have his proteges in top form for this contest.

Two Youths Held On Robbery Charges

Patrolman K. M. Musser Arrests Men For Brass Theft Saturday

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 3.—Two Ellwood City youths have been released from the Beaver county jail today upon obtaining bond, pending a hearing to be held later on charges of breaking and entering, as preferred by Patrolman K. M. Musser of the Ellwood City police.

The two are Ralph Leopardi, aged 18, and Americo Marletti, aged 22, both of this city. The two are alleged to have broken into the Ellwood Brass and Foundry Company on South Second street late Friday night and made away with 300 pounds of brass.

Patrolman Musser answered the call of the company officials informing him of the robbery. He went to work immediately and just a little after noon he had both of the above youths under arrest. Officer Musser deduced that whoever the robbers were they would attempt to dispose of their loot as soon as possible. So he proceeded to the Greenburg junk yard in Beaver avenue, where he reports he found the two endeavoring to sell the brass there.

They were taken before Squire Burket of Franklin township, Beaver county, where they were given a preliminary hearing and then taken to the Beaver county jail. They are out on bond today.

Ellwood Team Is Defeated By Beaver Falls Five

Final Score Of Game Last Night Shows 42-24 Against Ellwood

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 3.—St. Mary's of Beaver Falls chalked up their fifth straight Penn-Ohio League victory last night by downing the Ellwood Merchants, 42-24, in a rough contest on the St. Mary's court. The valley team has now defeated every loop rival.

The winners swung off to an early lead, aided by some spectacular shooting on the part of Hurley and J. Tachovsky, who displayed uncanny ability in caging the ball from difficult angles of the floor.

The first period closed with the Merchants on the short end of a 12-6 margin. Tod Lloyd and Wally Leyda counted from the field in the initial stanza and foul tosses by the latter and Justine brought their total to six. In each of the subsequent periods the valley five accounted for 10 points, while the Ruskovic crew registered six, five and seven.

Johnny Tachovsky led the scoring parade with a total of 13 points, closely followed by his teammates, Hurley and Montani, with 10 and nine respectively. Ganzy Benedict led the Merchant offense with three goals from the court and two out of three foul tries, for a total of eight points. The Merchant centers, Leyda and Ursu, with two goals apiece from the field, were the next best bets in the Merchant cause.

The fast Farrell team, who are in second place, meet the Merchants at Lincoln gym tomorrow night and close their week's card with a return game with St. Mary's at Farrell on Saturday night.

Tuberculosis On Increase Here In Lawrence County

Lawrence County Anti-Tuberculosis Society Is Carrying On Battle Here

Facts based on statistics that have just been compiled throughout the state, including Lawrence county, show that there is every indication of an increasing tuberculosis mortality indicated in the years to come. In the state in the first nine months of 1932, there were 6,985 cases of tuberculosis reported as compared with 5,718 cases in the same period of 1931. This is an increase of 6.6 percent over 1931 and 11.6 percent over 1930.

Of the sixty-seven counties of the state, forty-five show an increase. Lawrence county is one of the forty-five showing an increase. Thirty-three cases were reported for January to September as compared with twenty-six cases for the same period of 1931.

For the three year period of 1929, 1930 and 1931, deaths from tuberculosis in Lawrence county were 125. Of these deaths, sixty-four percent were between the ages of 15 and 45. On the basis of these figures, it is estimated that there are 375 active cases of the disease in the county at the present time.

These figures should be sufficient warning to the people of Lawrence county of the need of maintaining an active battle against this dread disease. The one active local agency engaged in the effort to prevent the spread of the disease and prolong the lives of those afflicted with it is the Lawrence County Anti-Tuberculosis Society. While the sale of seals for the carrying on of the work here is past, it is not too late to send in a liberal gift to the society at its headquarters in the City Mission Building, South Mercer street, to help in carrying on the work for the coming year. It would be just too bad for the district, if there should be a lack of funds which this organization could continue its great battle against this dread disease.

ROAMING

With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

One of the first things to remember now is that the year is 1933. For the next three or four days a lot of erasers will be used rubbing out the old year by folks who can't just seem to remember that the new one is here.

This year crept in rather quietly, snuck in without being descriptive. Not much noise, not much fuss. Old Man 1932 got out as fast as he could considering his age and general condition, and the new year had to sort of ease in to avoid some of the bricks hurled at his predecessor.

Perhaps the fact that it was Saturday night and that Sunday follows it rather suddenly, had something to do with the peace and good order of the city. Whatever the cause, the year came in on the wings of quiet.

By now your resolutions are rather shopworn no doubt. If you want to get a lot of free cigars offered you, resolve to quit smoking. If you want to get mixed up in a lot of arguments, resolve to be the epitome of sweetness and light for the coming year.

And about those calendars we mentioned a few days ago. Since that line, we've had enough calendars to take care of the house upstairs and down. One of them shows a fisherman and the lad who sent it over had the crust to pencil Miss Davy's name in above the figure of the fisherman. It is a picture of a fellow who has just hooked a big one near a sign which says "no fishing."

After that debacle in Pasadena, Cal., yesterday, the University of Pittsburgh will probably delete all references to the golden state, the climate, and the kissed orchards from its text books. But at that, it was a nice ride for the Pitt boys. Two rides in fact for they were surely taken for a ride in the Rose Bowl.

Doc Rice was the victim of one of the Happy New Year lads. Doc was called to the telephone sometime after midnight and a rather shaky voice said "can you hear the whistles, Doc?" Doc allowed that he couldn't, whereupon the inebriated soul at the other end of the line said "well listen to this" and started whistling.

One of the boys in the barber shop said he wasn't altogether sure what the Technocrats stood for, but thought he would vote that ticket at the next election. Wants to get in on the ground floor.

The return of the State Police detail to New Castle is notice to the Ohio yeggs who have been playing tag along the border for the past six months that somebody is going to get hurt if they continue. This thing of ducking into Pennsylvania and sticking up a citizen and then ducking back out is going to win some of the boys a nice fresh wooden overcoat.

And now it's time to take down the holiday decorations. The lights and the tinsel and the other forms of decoration. The holiday is over, and the decorations go back into the box for another twelve month spell.

RETURNS FROM HARRISBURG
Mrs. Carrie B. Griner of Albert street has returned from Harrisburg, Pa., where she was the guest of her daughter Miss Ella Griner who is an employee of the Department of Revenue.

During her ten day visit Mrs. Griner and her daughter visited Washington, D. C., where they were the guests of Miss Esther Parthemore, formerly of Harrisburg who is now the secretary of the International Federation of Women's Clubs.
